PRAIRIE FIRES.

There is a source of danger, always near, always at hand—an invisible but dreaded enemy when he does come which those who live near a wooded country cannot too carefully guard against—it is the prairie fires. Already this season several have occurred in various parts of the country south and west of us, resulting in the destruction of crops and property to farmers, but happily so far unattended with any loss of life. These fires occur every year with the regularity and frequency of summer thunder showers—sweeping at times over large tracts of country and when urged on by the wind leaving nothing in their path but blackened ashes. They are generally the result of careless and wilful neglect on the part of some person or other—neglect which in many cases is a down right crime, and would if the offender were caught subject him to a tolerably long stay in prison. The danger this season is likely to be as great as any season in the past. The rank growth of underbrush and prairie grass affords just the material for fire to work upon, and if the autumn should prove a dry one, it will make fires in some sections of the country a very serious matter. Too great precautions cannot be taken in any case and timely action is commendable. As a contemporary points out, besides the duties imposed by law upon all individuals in connection with fires and the penalties imposed for neglect of them, there is ample provision by which municipal councils may appoint fire guardians and prescribe their duties. The greatest danger will arise from the careless use of fire by individuals or by the neglect or indifference of municipal officers in seeing the proper precautions are carried out.

A source of danger, outside any step that may be taken arises from the railway locomotives. The duty of course of guarding this lies with the railway authorities. This duty has of late received considerable attention, the danger being one that menaces the property of the railway companies as well as the property of residents in the districts they penetrate. The chief danger though, the danger that wants to be most guarded against is in people who are on the road with wagons, camping out, setting fire to the brush or grass in the vicinity of a settlement and the wind causing it to spread. Next month is when the majority of prairie fires occur. An ounce of preservation is worth a pound of cure. From now on, people lighting fires in the bush or on the open prairie cannot be too careful to see they are properly extinguished before leaving them. By doing this thousands of dollars worth of property that is sacrificed every autumn might be saved.

THE INDEX OF THE AGE.

And still they come. Sensational suicide seems to be the order of the day. A gruesome subject to write about, but one which just now is attracting the attention of the most eminent thinkers and scholars of Europe and America. Open a paper when and where you please, you will read of some crank—some overworked person—some disappointed lover who has gone to seek the mystery of the unknown in the most tragic and uncomfortable manner possible. Every year 60,000 people commit suicide in Europe—while twice as many as that die by their own hands whose fate is never judicially recorded. In the United States alone the number is estimated to be considerably in excess of 20,000 while every year adds steadily to the number—in short suicide is now one of the recognized indexes of civilization, that increases with the distribution of intellect, outstripping the geometrical augmentation of the population and the general mortality. It has become quite the fashion, if your girl goes back on you to bid her a dramatic adieu—and blow out your brains with the heaviest calibre revolver you can secure, leaving the mess for your friends to clear up. Occasionally it takes the direction of a deadly opiate—or suffocation by gas, or a leap into the river on a dark night, but generally the leaden bullet and the keen cutting razor are the favorite agents employed by those who are no longer desirous of living. It is strange that it should be so, but one of the inevitable effects of cultivation is to make men dissatisfied with poverty and deprivation, to stimulate the demand for the comforts of life which the mass of toilers cannot enjoy. As society advances, new wants arrive and the luxury of to-day becomes a necessity of life to-morrow, and every want though essential to men's improvement and perfection involves new victims to madness and suicide. The telegraph, the railway, and the newspaper tell on the nerves of mankind, and the weak break down—even the strong perish from over work. The struggle for life in civilized countries is becoming more and more the struggle with the intellect, the brain is the weapon with which the fight is waged, and when that gives way, suicide invariably follows. Among the English speaking countries Canada has by far the smallest percentage of suicides per 1000 of population, likewise of crime and poverty. The classic ground of suicide is France and Germany. The Germans are the most suicidal race in the world, the Slavonic the least. Alcoholism the world through is the chief cause, love, jealousy, and misery next, shame, the fear of punishment and overwork next. A recent example of this, is the fate of an eminent Philadelphia lawyer who shot himself after reaching the pinnacle of his profession, a victim of the same malady which laid in the grave the composer Weber who had so often sighed, "would that I were a tailor for then I should have a Sunday holiday."

Lucky for us we are not affected like that here. We can work when we want to and lay off a day when we are a mind do so without a kick or a word being said. There is no master to stand over us with a whip, while we can truthfully say poverty, that breeder of crime and disease is an unknown factor. So much for Canada as against the older nations of the world.

MORE ANNEXATION TALK.

In every age—in the history of every country there is always to be found some outwardly patriotic person gifted with a fair amount of brains—a diversity of argument—a fluent tongue or a smooth running pen, who under the guise of giving liberty to the mass or some other high sounding title fills his pockets with ducats while he inwardly laughs at the people who listen to him. Without wishing to suggest his holiness Prof. Goldwin Smith is quite on this lay, we cannot help thinking all his talk about continental union and his communications on that subject to the American press is done with an eye to the publicity and advertising he gets out of it. Does he conscientiously and truly believe what he says that Canada as a body cherishes the idea of union with America? We do not believe so—for we credit him with being to some extent of a sane mind; yet here we find him with admirable frankness airing himself on that subject in the North American Review, and declaring among other things that the United States is more prosperous than Canada, urging as a reason for annexation that this prosperity would be partaken of by the Dominion if she joined the Union. This is an argument that lacks a note, or we would say without a note in it. At present it is Canada who can look across the boundary and say, "there is a country not so fortunate as myself, a country convulsed with trade troubles, panic stricken from one end of its vast territory to the other, while I and my people are prosperous and content." It just amounts to this Professor Goldwin Smith's talk is all bunkum and can emanate from no sincere or worthy motives. The United States is not, has not been for the last half century more prosperous than the Dominion, taking into consideration her much larger population, and the opportunities for employment of capital and the development of resource she has had.

While the aggregate of natural wealth in the U. S., is much greater than our own. While she has more millionaires—more railways—more cities, the proportion of commercial failures—of paupers—of distress generally in Canada is also much less. As a writer in a contemporary puts it—if we reach less marked heights of success, so do we sink to less low depths of adversity, and taking one year with another, putting in one scale the fruits reaped, and in the other the labor of body and mind expended, the Canadian can find little in which to envy his neighbor across the line. It is only agitators like Mercier and others with whom it is a matter of much personal gain, and a few dissatisfied French Canadians that really favor the severance of Canada from England, and luckily for us it is, that neither they or their descendants will ever live to see it brought about it. At the present moment we are happy to say, the exodus of emigration is not from this country to the United States but vice versa, and if America is better off in any way than we are—freer, governed better, or enjoying greater protection, or a more steady advance of prosperity, we fail to see it. We have what the States have not now got, vast areas of undeveloped country, rich in natural advantages, capable of raising all they can raise, and of producing food enough for the entire globe; and while the United States might reap much from federation with us, their is nothing she can give in return we do not possess already.

No! We recommend Professor Smith to undergo a diet for stomach trouble—something is certainly ailing him—either his liver is out of order, or he is suffering from a nervous complaint that makes him magnify his own cackling into the unanimous wish of an otherwise contented people.

IN ALBERTA.

A street or so, some houses small
Not over many in a row.
A church or two with steeple tall,
And there you have a place I know.
I struck it in the summer time
When all the woods looked fresh and green
How peaceful to reside I said,
Beside Saskatchewan's flowing stream.
Here might the traveller young or old
His camp pitched by the river side
And if he please—wash out the gold
At every froth of the tide.
Here might the weary start anew
And he who groans beneath a score.
Throw off the bondage of the few,
And live and breathe a man once more.
I met a townsman on his way
To gather in his crops of grain;
And stopped him with, "Sir! tell me pray,
Which here counts most, if color brain?"
"Young man," was all he answered me
In accents that were sternly cold
"This land is Canada—the free,
And worth with us, ranks more than gold."
Bright flashed the sun its early beam
Upon the hill as he went past.
I watched the ferry cross the stream,
And threw me down upon the grass.
I gazed upon the fields below
The golden wheat that ripened there
I saw the wagons come and go.
And heard the hum upon the air.
Oh land of healthful clime I cried
What hungry multitudes might live;
And bask them in the sunny tide
Of such success as thou could'st give.
Illimitless they acres are,
Thy virgin forests none can bound.
Here plenty gallops in her car,
And strews with generous hands the ground.
And this is that New West I said,
Child of the Kingdom by the sea;
The laurel wreath is round thy head.
A nation's hopes are born in thee.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

REGINA, August 17th, 1893.

The fourth session of the Northwest legislative assembly was opened to-day in the usual form. His Honor arrived at a few minutes to 3 with a police guard of honor and at precisely three o'clock took the speakers chair, Major Gagnon was aid de camp. The governor read his speech as follows in English only:

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:
The public requirements of the Territories render it desirable that the legislature should meet at an early date in the new financial year and as soon as may be possible after the transfer of the moneys voted by parliament for the use of the Territorial administration has been ordered by the Honorable the Privy Council.

These reasons have induced me to call you together at this time, and I have much pleasure in again welcoming you to the seat of government of the Territories.

I am happy to be able to state in general that a continued experience of the working of the Liquor License Ordinance shows that any apprehensions which may have been entertained as to the measure being followed by an increase of crime in the country have proved to be unfounded.

It will be necessary, however, in order to render more effective the prohibitory clauses of the Dominion Act, which have remained in force in the unorganized portions of the Territories, to adopt some means for facilitating and improving the inspection of goods that have been shipped to the North.

I beg to call your earnest attention to this important matter.
The dairy industry, which in the Eastern Provinces has now assumed such large proportions and become one of the principal exports of Canada, is making marked progress in various parts of the Territories, and I feel sure that you will, as in the past, spare no effort to promote its prosperity.

The provisions of the statute in regard to the expenditure of Territorial funds and such portion of the moneys appropriated by Parliament for the Territories, as the Lieutenant-governor is authorized to expend by and with the advice of the Legislative Assembly, or of any committee thereof, have been carefully carried out, and I have no doubt that you will again apply yourselves to the important task of observing a strict and judicious economy in connection therewith.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:
May your deliberations during this session be conducted with that spirit of equity, harmony and patriotism so essential for the promotion of the moral and material prosperity of our young and progressing country.

As soon as his honor had retired Mr. Haultain moved for leave to introduce a bill to amend the ordinance respecting prairie and forest fires.

Haultain—Tweed—moved that standing committees be appointed on the following subjects: Civil justice, standing orders, library, public accounts and printing, education, agriculture, immigration and municipal law.

Haultain—Mitchell—moved that Messrs. Cayley, Dill, Mowat, Haultain and Mitchell be a committee to select members to compose the standing committees.

Haultain moved that the speech of his honor be taken into consideration on Monday.

House adjourned.

REGINA, August 19.

As several of the Saskatchewan members arrived on Thursday's train the attendance of members on Friday was larger than the opening day, but there were still many vacant chairs.

Oliver presented a petition from the Edmonton rod and gun club asking that the shooting season be allowed to open in that district on August 15th instead of September 1st as at present.

Haultain moved the several standing committees as follows:

Civil justice—Cayley, Haultain, Prince.

Standing orders—Cayley, Haultain, Meyers, Knowling, Insinger.

Library—Mr. Speaker, Cayley, Tweed, Oliver, Magrath, Wilkins.

Agriculture—Jelly, Bouchier, Sutherland, Page, Meyers, Knowling, Dill, Insinger.

Accounts and printing—Clinksill, Neff, Betts, Magrath, Brett, Oliver, Page, Davidson.

Immigration—Lineham, Mitchell, Wilkins, McKay, Mowat, Magrath, Oliver, Sutherland, Brett, Neff, Betts.

Education—Mitchell, Mowat, Tweed, Betts, Oliver, Dill, Page, Prince.

Municipal law—Davidson, Mowat, Cayley, Oliver, Magrath, Betts, Dill, McKay.

Haultain gave notice of a bill respecting partnerships.

Haultain gave notice of a motion to appoint a special committee consisting of Messrs. Oliver, Davidson, Insinger, Clinksill, and the mover to enquire into and report upon certain charges against Daniel Campbell, a member of the house; and that for the purpose of such enquiry the said committee have power to send for persons, papers and records.

Oliver gave notice of an amendment to the game ordinance in line with the petition he had presented.

Cayley gave notice of a bill respecting wolves.

Neff gave notice of amendments to the "Diseased Animals" and "Noxious Weeds" ordinances.

There is a general expectation that the session will be short. This arises from the belief that no new public measure has been hinted at in the interval since last session. But there are a large number of important private bills expected and besides there will be an attempt made to consolidate several ordinances which by reason of frequent amendments in a confused, not to say contradictory condition.

The minister of the interior and party tarried in Regina yesterday awaiting the departure of the Prince Albert train. The minister will formally visit Regina and vicinity on his return from Battleford.

The weather is most beautiful. Warm, clear, calm days and cool nights.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Strang—Gallagher—moved that the balance of the above mentioned report of the board of works be laid over until such time as the council deemed it expedient to expend further money for purpose of local improvement.

Solicitor Beck, presented and read a draft of proposed private bill, to be submitted to the legislative assembly for the construction and operation by the corporation or a company, of a tramway within the limits of the town, and outside the limits in the immediate vicinity of the corporation, particularly from the limits of the town to a place at or near the northerly terminus of the C. & E. Railway.

Strang—Goodridge—moved that the draft ordinance as submitted by Solicitor Beck be approved, and that the clerk be instructed to draw order for purchase of draft in favor of R. B. Gordon, clerk of legislative assembly, Regina, for the sum of $100.

Sanderson—Goodridge—moved that the solicitor be instructed to draw up debenture by-laws to be submitted to the ratepayers for the purpose of paying expenditure for certain permanent improvements made last year.

Sanderson—Strang—moved that councillors Goodridge and the mayor be a committee to procure copy of the plan now at Mr. Beck's office of the proposed road from the lower ferry to Jasper Avenue near Cliff property. The cost of the copy to be limited to $5.00.

Fort Saskatchewan is situated on the Banks of the North Saskatchewan River, and is the centre of the whole District of Edmonton, which is supposed to be the best agricultural and stock raising District in the whole Canadian Northwest, and has the Beaver Hills as a back ground, making it the most picturesque townsite in the West.

Anyone visiting Northern Alberta, should come and see

Fort Saskatchewan

BEAVER LAKE.
Weather up to date has been very favorable to crops, and there is an abundance of hay and grain ready. People are busy cutting barley and wheat.

Kitchen gardens are looking splendid. Mr. Logan and Mrs. McKenzie have vegetables (including cucumbers, corn in the ear, and tomatoes ripening) which will be difficult to beat in the Edmonton district anywhere.

The settlers who came into this neighborhood in the spring are very much pleased with the climate, the crops they are raising and their location.

G. Norris has had his leg badly bruised between a horse and a rail.

R. Logan has put up 200 tons of hay and is busy cutting his barley and oats.

Mr. McKenzie's wheat is fit to cut and is a fine sample.

People out here are still grumbling about having to travel 75 miles to get to Edmonton instead of about 35 miles. This is so much the worse for Edmonton merchants—for while Edmonton is the commercial centre it is not the only place where goods can be bought and sold.

Martin Van Buren Rowland, the notorious Texas highwayman, who in 1891 held up the Cariboo stage and robbed the strong box of the British Columbia Express company, securing $16,000 in gold dust, escaped from the British Columbia penitentiary Friday evening and is still at large. The manner of his escape was very simple. He formed one of a gang working in a ravine on the west side of the penitentiary grounds. A picket fence, five feet high runs across the ravine terminating at the twelve feet wall on either side. The gang was working on the west side of the wall and a guard with loaded rifle stood sentry only fifty feet away. Suddenly he sprang on the fence, threw his hand up, rested it on the top of the wall and the next moment leaped clean over and safely reached the ground on the other side. The whole operation did not occupy five seconds. So quickly was the astonishing feat performed that the guard had no time to raise his rifle and fire. Rowland is fifty years of age and over five feet seven and a half inches in stature; but he is wonderfully agile for a man of his years. Scarcely had he touched the ground than he bounded like a deer into the bushes and was instantly lost to view. A posse was sent out from the penitentiary and the bushes searched for some distance, but Rowland up to now has not been found. The convict was tried and sentenced by Judge Walker, at Clinton assizes in 1891 to five years imprisonment. When captured, after robbing the stage, he had only a few dollars of the stolen gold in his possession, the balance being cached somewhere along the Cariboo road, but just where the authorities have never been able to discover.

A Chicago special referring to the arrival at the World's Fair of horses and cattle for the prize competitions says the Canadian exhibit arrived on Thursday. "The department of agriculture is particularly pleased with the enterprise shown by Canada, the province of Quebec and Ontario having entered more cattle and horses than any state in the Union. Some of the Canadian horses that are entered for competition can trace their ancestry back to the romantic days of New France and Acadia. Among the thoroughbreds which the Canadians will exhibit is George Frederick, a chestnut stallion, and winner of the English derby in 1874. He is owned by J. A. L. Stathly, of Montreal."

The live stock export trade from Canada to Great Britain is poor this year. So far only 54,012 head of cattle and 534 sheep have been exported, against 62,998 cattle and 14,278 sheep for the same period of last year. Bad markets in England are responsible for this great falling off. Exporters have as a usual thing lost heavily on their shipments. Prices in Liverpool have declined 14 pence per pound in the past three weeks.

A special from Washington to Montreal says: "High officials are reticent as to the result of the Behring sea commission. The opinion is gaining ground that the United States is the loser on the whole. A leading Washington paper declares the government had nothing to gain by submitting to a court inherently unfriendly, but should have protected its rights by the sword, instead of putting them in alien hands. It seems to voice public sentiment."

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

All even numbered sections excepting 8 and 26 are open for homestead entry (160 acres) by any person at head of a family, or any male over the age of 18 years.

ENTRY.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, or the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, receive authority for some one to be named by the intending settler to act for him in making the entry for him. Entry fee $10, or if cancelled land $20.

DUTIES.

Under the present law homestead duties may be performed in three ways, to be decided on making entry:

1. Three years cultivation and residence, during which period the settler may not be absent for more than six months in any one year without forfeiting the entry.
2. Residence for three years within two miles of the homestead and actual residence for 3 months in a habitable house next prior to application for patent. Ten acres must be broken the first year after entry, 15 acres additional in the second and 15 in the third year; 10 acres to be in crop the second year, and 25 acres the third year.
3. A settler may reside anywhere for the first two years, in the first year breaking 5 acres, in the second cropping said land and erecting additional 10, also building a habitable house. The entry is forfeited if residence is not commenced at the expiration of 2 years from date of entry. Thereafter the settler must reside upon and cultivate his homestead for at least six months in each year for three years.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT.

May be made before the local agent, or any homestead inspector.
Six Month Notice Must be Given in Writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands by a Settler of his Intention Prior to Making Application for Patent.
PRE-EMPTIONS are by law abolished, and may not be entered for near 1st January, 1890.
A Second Homestead may be taken by anyone who has performed the duties to entitle him to a certificate of recommendation for the first homestead on or prior to the second day of June, 1889.
Forfeited or cancelled Pre-Emptions may be taken as second homesteads.

All communications having reference to lands under control of the Dominion Government, lying between the eastern boundary of Manitoba and the Pacific Coast should be addressed to:

News of Edmonton and surroundings up to hour of issue.

News of the world by telegraph up to day of issue and from two to five days ahead of any other paper reaching Edmonton.

Controlled only by the proprietor and therefore always ready and willing to speak out for the good of the town and district.

THE BULLETIN is read more generally throughout the Edmonton district than any other paper.

If you want to do business in the Edmonton district you can reach more of the people with a less expenditure of money through the advertising columns of the BULLETIN than by any other means.

Fair advertising rates charged, and like rates to all parties.

No advertising of a questionable nature admitted if its character is known.

THE BULLETIN Printing office is second to none in the Territories. Only first-class type, machinery and paper employed. Printing of all kinds done promptly, neatly and cheaply. Call and see samples of work, and get prices before ordering your printing elsewhere.

A newspaper is not a producing industry, but if properly conducted it assists and stimulates production and progress more than any other single agency of like cost. Money spent towards the support of a newspaper is almost entirely spent within the town in which the paper is published and is therefore not lost to the business of the town.

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

Support your home paper liberally if it deserves support, so that it can give the best possible impression of your town and district as a field for immigration and investment.

There is big money for a new town in having a live and interesting paper.
